The bark Highflyer, this time sailing under the German flag, arrived on Saturday morning 131 days from St. Michaels. She brings 65 matried couples, 165 single men, 2 single women and 104 children. During the vorage there were 19 births —13 deaths occurred as follows, 11 infants, one woman of consumption and one man tilted overboard in a squall off Cape Hern. On Sunday macrining the Port Physician went on board and pessengers and crew were all examined by him. Ninety were vaccinated or revaccinated, the rest shawed satisfactory marks upon their arms. The new immigrants are reported as a remarkably fine and healthy looking lot.

On Saturday evening the premises belonging to Mr. A. Belster, at the some of Richard and Merchant streets, had a marrow escape from being burned down. Some natives passing saw smoke coming from a toom. They gave the alarm and broke open the door, A portion of the floor was found to be in a blaze, and a bottle of kerosome, part of the contents spilled on the floor, was standing by it. Catching hold of some old costs the natives managed to smother the flames. The two men who occupied the room say there was no keroseme kept there. It would therefore look as if the bottle had been placed there maliciously. On Saturday evening the premises belonging to

A new trumpet stop has been put into the Fort Street organ; it was used for the first time last Sanday; it is a great addition to the instrument. The music at this church is, jess now, exceptionally good. Mr. M. Jones is an excellent organist; the choir possesses some capital voices, and there seems to be a sort of entimeiasm among the members which contributes greatly to their success.

We were amused the other day by a little chap coming into Thrum's store and addressing each one of the half-doren men there collected with a "Shine your boots, Sir?" No one did want a "shine," but as each one refused the youngster had some smart remark to make, even to the extent of pulling out his purse and offering to match coins with one individual. Finally he fast end on a little half-white boy who was sitting hare foot at his work, and in a very derisive way suggested he should shine his boots, whereapon commenced a little battle of slanging in which the Hawaiian born was nowhere beside the San Francisco bred. On Monday evening a band concert was givenant the Hotel. Admiral Stevens kindly allowed the band of the *Penescola* to come on shore, and during part of the programme the *Penescola* and Hawanan bands were united. A great number of people were present, both on the verandah and about the Hotel yard—and the scene, after the very dull times that we have been having seemed about the Hotel yard—and the scene, after the very dull times that we have been having seemed the two bands played alternately, and two pieces deserve special credit, the walts "Pleurs of Assace," (*Penescola* and the "Pietres of Penzane" (*Hawaiian.) The latter was given with considerably more apirit than we have heard before. In the second part the two bands united and certainly they were most successful. We heard a selection played from the comic opers of Boccaccio, our band boys had never seen the music before, playing from the copies belonging to the *Pensaccio* band; under such circumstances it was remarkable how admirably the gradatious of saund were kept; the

One of our Christian sailors then addressed them, after which Kapu and Nalinou spoke briefly. The attention was wonderful for such an audience, and the singing the best I have ever heard in Micronesia. I was much impressed with the large number of intelligent looking old men present. The multitude of dogs that Kapu had the natives tie up outside the church to prevent their coming in, die not add to the interest of the occasion by their noise.
